

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT FOR
THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AT SEATTLE

IN RE: ) CHAPTER 7
ADAM GROSSMAN, ) CASE NO. 10-19817 Debtor. ) TRUSTEE'S REPLY TO RESPONSE OF
LYMAN C. OPIE TO TRUSTEE'S
OBJECTION TO CLAIM NO. 16-1

COMES NOW Ronald G. Brown, the trustee in the above entitled case, through his undersigned attorney, and submits this reply to the Response of Lyman C. Opie to Trustee's Objection to Claim No. 16-1 (the, "Response"). The Response is accompanied by a declaration of Lyman C. Opie which is hereinafter called, the "Opie Declaration".

Introduction

Contrary to what is averred in the Response, the nature and purported benefit of the transactions between the Debtor and Mr. Opie, a friend and insider of the Debtor, that are the subject of Claim No. 16-1 are highly disputed. As set forth in more detail below, the Trustee does not believe that the evidence supports allowance of Mr. Opie's claim.

In the Response, Mr. Opie requests the allowance of all of the amounts asserted in his Claim No. 16-1 except for the amount identified therein for attorneys' fees and costs totaling $14,042.64. Given the omission of this amount in the Response, the Trustee understands that Mr. Opie no longer asserts a claim in regard thereto.<sup>1</sup> Accordingly, the Trustee's objection to the attorneys' fees/costs portion of the <sup>1</sup> To the extent, if any, Mr. Opie may still assert a claim for attorneys' fees/costs, the Trustee maintains his objection thereto since, among other things, Mr. Opie has not substantiated an entitlement to them under applicable law.

1 claim must be sustained and that amount of the claims disallowed. This reply, accordingly, addresses
2 the balance of Claim No. 16-1 and the Trustee's objection thereto.

3 Summary of Issues

4 The Response raises the following issues:

5 1. Whether Mr. Opie's claim for $185,000 plus interest, which is based upon 6 unauthenticated missing alleged promissory notes that, as least in part, were not contemporaneous with 7 alleged pre-bankruptcy payments that were made to Terrington Davies Capital, LLC and not the Debtor,
8 is allowable as a general unsecured claim with at least $135,000 of said claim characterized as marital 9 community obligation?
10

11 2. Whether $20,000 Mr. Opie paid post-bankruptcy to the Tsai Law Firm ("Tsai") as an 12 alleged loan to the Debtor-in-Possession ("DIP") without Court order before authority was granted for 13 the DIP to employ Tsai as special counsel constitutes a valid allowable Chapter 11 cost of 14 administration?
15

16 Relevant Factual Background

17 The Response does not contain a cogent complete statement of the relevant pre- and post-
18 bankruptcy background facts which is necessary to understand and follow the issues presented in this
19 matter. The key relevant facts are summarized in this section of the Trustee's reply in chronological
20 order and are based upon Claim No. 16-1, the Opie Declaration and the Court docket.
21

22 1. A bank check dated October 8, 2009 for $15,000 was issued allegedly for Mr. Opie to the 23 sole payee, Terrington Davies Capital LLC ("TDC").
24

25 2. Mr. Opie originated a wire transfer for $35,000 to TDC on November 13, 2009.

26 3. After the above transfers, a promissory note allegedly dated December 31, 2009 signed
27 only by the Debtor allegedly came into existence which provided in relevant part as follows: "For value

1 received (i.e., $15,000 on October 8, 2009, and $35,000 on November ___, 2009, Borrower promises to 2 pay Lender $55,668.27 as specified below.”[sic].

3 4. The Debtor and his now ex-spouse, Jill Borodin, were separated and in divorce
4 proceedings in King County Superior Court (09-3-02955-9SEA) commenced in April 2009.

5 5. On May 25, 2010, Mr. Opie originated a wire transfer to TDC for $135,000.

6 6. After the transfer for $135,000, a promissory note allegedly dated May 25, 2010 signed
7 only by the Debtor allegedly came into existence.

9 7. The Debtor filed Chapter 11, commencing the present case, on August 19, 2010. Notice
10 of the bankruptcy was sent to creditors including Mr. Opie on August 27, 2010. Clerks’ Proof of 11 Service [ECF Docket No. 15].
12

13 8. An electronic personal check dated October 13, 2010 for $20,000 from Mr. Opie was 14 issued to Tsai as sole payee.

15 9. The Bankruptcy Court (the Hon. Samuel J. Steiner presiding) entered an order on 16 November 12, 2010 authorizing the Debtor to employ and retain Tsai as his attorneys in the dissolution
17 proceedings. ECF Docket No. 62.<sup>2</sup>
18

19 10. The decree dissolving the Debtor’s marriage was entered on December 14, 2010. [See
20 Exhibit 1 attached to a declaration of the Trustee’s attorney, Docket No. 343.]

21 11. On December 20, 2010, the Debtor recorded a deed of trust for $300,000 dated May 25,
22 2010 (the, “DOT”) in favor of Mr. Opie on the Redding, California real property known as the 23 “Glennview Property”.
24

25 12. On or about December 22, 2010 Ronald G. Brown was appointed as the Chapter 11
26 Trustee and the Debtor ceased serving as the Debtor-in-Possession.
27

1           13.     The case was converted to Chapter 7 on March 11, 2011 and Mr. Brown was appointed
2 as trustee.

3           14.     On June 13, 2011, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order [ECF Docket No. 196]
4 “provisionally” approving fees and costs to Tsai totaling approximately $62,000 subject to a further
5 hearing and directing that Tsai shall not disburse the sum of $29,500 (attributable to funds from Dennis
6 Vidach and Susan Myers) from its trust account. The further hearing occurred on September 9, 2011
7 and as a result thereof, the Court entered an order on September 15, 2011 whereunder it denied Tsai’s
8 request to apply the aforementioned trust funds to its fees/costs and directing that those funds be turned 9 over to the Trustee. Those funds were subsequently turned over and are on deposit in the Estate’s trust 10 account.
11

12           15.     On January 24, 2012, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order in the Trustee’s adversary
13 proceeding for avoidance of transfers (Adv. Pro# 11-01954) approving a stipulation between the Trustee
14 and Mr. Opie avoiding the DOT. Adv. Pro. ECF Docket No. 24.
15

16           16.     On February 1, 2012, the Trustee filed a motion [ECF Docket No. 307] seeking to 17 enforce Tsai’s compliance with the Court’s prior orders regarding its fees/costs and to compel turn over 18 of $27,500 that Tsai paid itself from its trust account in violation of those orders. As set forth in the 19 Trustee’s February 1st motion, Tsai received the above identified sum via direct payments from the 20 Debtor’s friends, Peter Hendrickson on September 16, 2010 for $7,500 and Mr. Opie on October 11, 21 2010 for $20,000.<sup>3</sup>
22

23           17.     In partial response to the Trustee’s February 1st motion, Tsai filed another application in 24 which it sought to renew its requested disbursement for its provisionally approved fees/expenses. ECF
25 Docket No. 313 . The Trustee objected to that application [ECF Docket No. 324] because, among other 26
27

<sup>3</sup>This information, as stated in the Trustee’s February 1st motion, was verified by Tsai itself in the declaration of Emily Tsai filed with the Court on November 4, 2010 [ECF Docket No. 43].

1 things, any finally allowed fees/expenses of Tsai would constitute Chapter 11 administration costs of 2 administration, payment, if any, of which would be made at the time of final distribution of the Estate;
3 and, in any event, Mr. Opie had asserted a competing Chapter 11 administrative claim for $20,000 in 4 regard to the same funds that Tsai alleged it should be allowed to retain and pay itself. On March 5,
5 2012, the Court entered an order [ECF Docket No. 331] in which it denied without prejudice both Tsai's
6 request for disbursement of approved fees and the Trustee's motion for compliance and turnover of the 7 $27,500 in funds held by Tsai attributable to payments to it from Messrs. Hendrickson and Opie. In the 8 foregoing order in the last sentence thereof on page 2, the Court ruled : "The Court may revisit this issue
9 as part of a motion to approve or reject the Lyman Opie claim (Claim No. 16)."

11 18. No other action regarding either the claims of Tsai or Opie has occurred since entry of the 12 March 5th order.
13

14 Analysis and Argument

15 A. The General Unsecured Portion of Mr. Opie's Claim is Not Al- 16 lowable and Cannot Be Characterized as Community Obligation.

17 As a threshold matter all of the transfers that are the basis of Mr. Opie's general unsecured claim
18 were made to TDC and not to the Debtor. Mr. Opie has not explained why and how purported transfers
19 to the Debtor were in fact paid to a third party (i.e., TDC). He has also not explained why and how it 20 was determined that the Debtor would sign promissory notes for funds paid to TDC. Moreover, Mr.
21 Opie has failed to present any evidence showing that the payments to TDC were not intended as 22 investments versus loans to TDC. There is nothing in the record beyond the purported promissory notes
23 supporting any personal liability of the Debtor for the transfers to TDC. Given the absence of credible
24 evidence substantiating the foregoing, there is no basis for allowing Mr. Opie any general unsecured
25 claim.
26
27

1 In the Opie Declaration, Mr. Opie admits that he does not have custody or possession of any of
2 the alleged originals of the promissory notes, at least one of which was dated after the first two transfers
3 to TDC had already been made. Given the absence of originals of the notes, they cannot be examined
4 for authenticity. Mr. Opie cannot show that they existed as of the dates appearing on the copies thereof
5 and/or that they were not created after the fact to attempt to give the appearance that the Debtor was 6 personally obligated in regard thereto. The Trustee believes that the unsecured portion of the claims are 7 not personal obligations of the Debtor and thus cannot be allowed as claims against the Estate.

9 In any event, the unsecured portion of the claims cannot be characterized as community
10 obligations. The bulk of the transfers were made to TDC after the Debtor and his ex-spouse were 11 separated and in the process of getting divorced. The transfers were not made to benefit the marital 12 community which, at the time, was being dissolved. The attempt of the Debtor to secure the funds
13 against the Glennview Property with a deed of trust signed only by the Debtor was made after the entry
14 of the divorce decree. This transaction on its face was not a marital community transaction and Mr.
15 Opie cannot now claim otherwise.

17 Mr. Opie tries to argue in the Response without substantiation that his $135,000 transfer was 18 used to purchase the Glennview Property. Mr. Opie has not produced any evidence showing that the 19 funds used to purchase the Property are traceable in whole or part to Mr. Opie's payment to TDC. The 20 deed of trust which was avoided by stipulation was for a principal sum of $300,000 and not the sum in 21 question. Therefore, there is not basis for characterizing Mr. Opie's claim as an obligation of the marital 22 community.
23
24

25 B. The $20,000 Payment to Tsai Was Not a Reasonable and 26 Necessary Expense for the Benefit of the Estate

27 Bankruptcy Code §503 provides for the allowance of a claim as costs of administration where it is shown that it is an actual necessary and reasonable cost for preserving the estate. For allowance of an

1 expense as an administrative claim, a party asserting the claim has the burden of proof. In re Dak
2 Industries, Inc., 66 F.3d 1091, 1094 (9th Cir. 1995). To qualify as an administrative claim, an expense
3 must arise out of a transaction between the creditor and the debtor-in-possession and be of substantial
4 benefit to the bankruptcy estate. Id.; and In re Mid Region Petroleum, Inc., 1 F.3d 1130, 1133 (10th
5 Cir.1993).

7 Mr. Opie has not satisfied his burden of proof and is not entitled to allowance of a Chapter 11
8 administrative claim. Mr. Opie and the Debtor were both aware of the bankruptcy and neither of them
9 applied to the Court for authority for borrowing funds outside of the ordinary course of the Debtor's
10 affairs. Mr. Opie acted as a volunteer in advancing the funds to Tsai which were primarily for the 11 benefit of the Debtor personally and not the Estate. Any benefit to Estate was incidental and not 12 intended since, among other things, the fees which Tsai incurred were in substantial part dedicated to 13 litigating issues of child and spousal support that were of no actual or potential benefit to the Estate.<sup>4</sup> In 14 any event, potential benefit to a bankruptcy estate does not satisfy the requirement of §503. In re Mid 15 Region Petroleum, Inc., supra. Thus, Mr. Opie does not have an allowable valid administrative claim.

16
17 The cases which Mr. Opie relies upon to support his position are readily distinguishable from the 18 facts in the case at bar and thus inapplicable. In each of them, there were relatively simple facts where 19 the administrative claimant paid money directly to the bankruptcy estate and not to a third party and 20 where it was overwhelming clear that money paid was substantially beneficial to the estate. In re Pizza
21 of Hawaii, Inc., 69 B.R. 60,61 (Bankr.HI 1986), centered upon a $100,000 loan from Round Table
22 Pizza to a franchisee to continue post-bankruptcy operations. The transaction which was the basis for 23 the alleged administrative claim was between the administrative claimant and the DIP where it was
25
26
27

<sup>4</sup> The dissolution proceedings entailed claims against the Debtor for domestic violence. The dissolution decree (see page 8) maintains a continuing restraining order against the debtor. This is emblematic of the fact that any advances from Opie to Tsai were primarily for the personal benefit of the Debtor and not for the benefit of the bankruptcy estate.

1 evident that it was an actual and necessary expense to maintain the DIP's business. Such facts are not
2 presented in regard to Mr. Opie.

3 The facts In re Photo Promotion Associates, Inc., 87 B.R. 835 (Bankr.S.D.N.Y. 1988)[“Photo
4 Promotion”] bear no resemblance to the facts in the present case. In Photo Promotion, the 5 administrative claimant, “Colorchrome”, developed and processed approximately 34,000 post-
6 bankruptcy orders of the DIP. Photo Promotion at 841. The Court denied Colorchrome’s requested
7 super-priority claim but indicated it would allow it a Chapter 11 administrative claim limited to its
8 proven unpaid costs for processing and shipping goods to the DIP. Id. Mr. Opie did not advance funds
9 to the DIP and cannot show the obvious and clear benefit to the estate that existed in Photo Promotion.
10

11 In re Gloria Manufacturing Corp., 65 B.R. 341, 348 (E.D.VA. 1985)[“Gloria Mfg”] involved
12 highly unique circumstances that are in no way directly or indirectly existent on the facts of the case at 13 bar. A Chapter 11 trustee was appointed to oversee the debtor’s business operations. Gloria Mfg, supra.
14 The Chapter 11 Trustee personally made an emergency cash advance of over $46,000 to fund the 15 debtor’s payroll. Id. at 342. The Chapter 11 Trustee was repaid $10,000 of his advance but the case was 16 converted to Chapter 7 before he could be repaid in full or apply for allowance of a super-priority claim.
17 Id. The Chapter 11 Trustee applied for allowance of super priority claim pursuant to §364 which in 18 effect was granted. Id. at 343. Due to various technical procedural disputed issues, the validity of the 19 super-priority claim was challenged on appeal primarily on the basis that super priority status was not 20 requested before the Trustee’s advance. Id. at 346. The appellate Court rejected the challenge and 21 affirmed the lower Court after finding that there were sufficient equities that made advance hearing
22 unnecessary. Id. at 347. There is no valid comparison between the facts of Gloria Mfg and the present
23 matter. Mr. Opie unlike the Chapter 11 Trustee did not advance any funds directly to the estate, was not 24 faced with any exigencies that would warrant his bypassing advance Court approval and, in any event,
25

1 cannot show the over arching benefit that was obviously involved with for the estate in Gloria Mfg.
2 Therefore, Mr. Opie has failed to prove that he has an allowable Chapter 11 administrative claim and the 3 claim must be disallowed.

4 Mr. Opie Cannot Subrogate His Claim to the Priority Classification of Tsai's Claim

5 In the Response, in effect, Mr. Opie asserts that his claim is entitled to the identical classification
6 as that of Tsai (i.e., Chapter 11 administrative expense). There is no basis in fact or law for Mr. Opie to 7 receive such treatment. A third party volunteer who pays money allegedly related to or for a post-
8 petition claim does not inherit the priority classification of that claim. The Bankruptcy Code has 9 specific provisions governing when a party may subrogate to the rights of a holder of a claim contained
10 in §507(d). Mr. Opie's claim does not fall within the terms and conditions of Section 507(d) which in 11 general expressly provides that the party claiming subrogation does not attain the right of the holder of 12 such claim to the holder's priority classification. Therefore, Mr. Opie does not have a right to the same
13 classification as Tsai's claim.
14

16 In any event, it should be noted that administrative payment of Tsai including the $20,000 sum
17 of Mr. Opie is a matter of an unresolved dispute between the Estate and Tsai. Mr. Opie and Tsai, under 18 any circumstances, cannot both have an allowable administrative claim for $20,000 since, among other 19 things, it would result in the Estate potentially paying the same claim twice.
20

21 Conclusion

22 There is no valid basis for allowing Mr. Opie an administrative claim and, therefore, the claim 23 must be disallowed. Therefore, Claim No. 16-1 of Mr. Opie should be disallowed.
